Alamo - February 7th & 8th, 2009

We have completed our second tournament, which was a two day affair at Alamo Lake. Reports from the lake had been that the fishing and weather was great. As it turns out the weather is exactly what we have come to expect. To say that it was capricious would be an understatement. Cloudy, windy, raining one moment then sunshine, calm weather for a brief time and then cold, wind and rain again.

Everyone hung in there and some fish were caught. In fact a lot of fish were caught. The only challenge was that most of them were in the slot and a pattern couldn't be found. It was sporadic at best.

Mark Potts & Mike Perry came through again and won the tournament with a fantastic weight of 17.19 lbs, which was quite impressive considering the time of year and the weather.
